RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 80 pages. LC Number: KF27 . V444 2009c OCLC Number: (OCoLC)466878301 Subject: Veterans -- Services for -- United States -- Management. Excerpt: . . . 11 clients who were being treated by the VA for diabetes, who were Vietnam veterans, and the VA never told them, By the way, go file a claim for a service-connected disability. ERRIELLO Mr. P. In terms of the outreach that is going on right now, there is a certain amount of urgency in the sense that, in the Vietnam era, people were not treated early and cases became exacerbated because of the lack of care. Given the urgency with the folks coming home, what are the programs that are easiest for us to take to scale right away in terms of getting that outreach going right now Mr. R. I will just add that I think that one of the programs OWAN that we have seen that is starting to reach out is reaching out again into the private sector, particularly in the mental health community. The other thing is we need to talk about the whole picture, of the family of these veterans. Many of these veterans today, unlike my generation when most of us were single, most of them today are married. A lot of them have children. You need to have a family practice, almost, to deal with the mental health issue that is occurring. Because it is not just the veteran. It is the veteran and the impact to their family. It is the wife or husband, for that matter, who has been sitting home for a year, dealing with all the family issues, etcetera. It is the children who are dealing with an absentee parent for a...
